LONG WAIT FOR REVENG.

Miss Brown Locks Up an Actor Who Deceived Her Ten Years Ago. New York, July 28.-After walting ten years for revenge Miss Kate May Brown, f No. 180 West Sixty-fourth Street, has lodged George S. Miller, an actor, in the Ludlow Street jail. The charge is breach of promise of marriage, and the amount sked is $10,000.

Miss Brown lived with her mother at No. 435 Sixth Avenue. One of their lodg-ers was Miller. He proposed marriage to Miss Brown, was accepted and the wedding day was set for August 2.

Soon after they became engaged Mil-ler, so Miss Brown says, borrowed money of her mother from time to time until he had been given several hundred dollars. Then he disappeared. On the day set for the marriage Miss Brown received a wife and children.
has been looking for Miller ever since. Tuesday night she met him in the Tenderloin and had him arrested.

SAD DROWNING ACCIDENT.

Mrs. Spoorer Dragged to Death 1

Trying to Rescue a Lnd. Holly Beach, N. J., July 28.—There was a sad double drowning here yesterday. Jean Farley, of Phoennixville, Pa., ten years old, was bathing in the surf and went so far out that the waves lifted him from the sand and started to carry him

The child screamed and there was great excitement upon the beach. Mrs. Emilie Spooner, thirty-five years old, of Phila-delphia, was one of the bathers. She was lying on the sand when the boy first screamed, and at once plunged in to res-cue him. She was a good swimmer and was soon alongside of the child. Mrs. Spooner was in the act of straightening up to grasp the child when the little one lying on the sand when the bo threw its arms about her neck and clun thoroughly frightened and Mrs. Spo could not break the clasp. The woma was seen to turn over on her back an try to swim, but she soon sank, afte gain turning and trying to release her-

Others were hurrying out, and reached the spot just too late, as Mrs. Spoones did not rise again.

A little later her body was found ashore. The child had let go after both were dead. The child's body has not been found. This is the first drowning here in

THE AGREEMENT IS MADE

When Peace Negotiations Have Assumed Tangible Form Foreign Warships Will Be Dispatched to Spanish Ports to Protect the Throne Against the Carlists.

Several days ago in an interview a prominent diplomat who is intimately ac-quainted with Spanish-American affairs conferences of the representatives of Eu-ropean powers in Madrid with the Queen Spain would declare for peace sooner than was anticipated.

Today he said that peace negotiations through Cambon; were entered into at the request or rather the demand of the properly under way those countries interested would send their warships to the ports of Spain to protect her against her own people. It is their determined intention to save Spain to herself-now that she has jost her colonies and her colonial powers, and that as soon as they were she has lost her colonies and her colonial prestige, and not to permit the country to be destroyed to gratify the personal ambition of Don Carlos or the ultra-republican views of the other revolutionary there is already a state bordering on demoralization in some parts of Spain and he expects that as soon as peace measures have been made public it will be intensified. Already, he says, a great number of disturbers, both Carlists and Recofined. The fortress of Monjuith, at Barcelona, is full of political prisoners, and the same can be said of the penitentiary at Madrid.

The military governors of differen Spanish cities have issued manifestos warning the people against participation in any gatherings of Cartists or Republicans, and in Madrid the civil guard has been nearly doubled. In a house in the Calle Seville, near the Place de Torros, a quantity of gunpowder, dynamite and arms was discovered, This caused the officials great uneasiness and a rigorous search has been made of every suspected locality in Madrid. The most effective precautionary measures have been taken. A repetition of the French revolution is most dreaded in Spain and the present ministry realize that only foreign intervention can prevent it and save the throne to the young king, Alfonso XIII. In his interview the diplomat referred to said today that Spain would be compelled to recognize the independence of Cuba, thus putting an effectual stop to the war in that island; cede the island of Porto Rico to the United States, and in all probability give the Philippines as a security for the payment of such a war indemnity as may be agreed upon. The later concession will be made with the distinct understanding that the in-surgent leader, Aguinaldo, is not to be allowed to assume any power whatever, and is to have no voice in the govern-

Isabel, then five years old.

It was only a few months later that Loia Small again ventured upon the sea of matrimony, this time with Stewart Ford, of Richmond, Va. In two years Stewart Ford appealed to the courts with such allegations against his wife that Sam Small himself took a hand in the Sam Small himself took a hand in the counter suit filed by his daughter. He prepared the document signed by her lawyer, and portrayed his son-in-law as "a drunkard, a gambler and a loafer." The suit was withdrawn by agreement of both parties and alimony and dower arranged for Mrs. Ford.

"It is quite true I am going to adopt the stage as a profession," she said, with just a trace of the Southern accent in her speech, "and that I have had no experience save as an amateur. I have no illusions about it, don't imagine it is easy and have no ambitions to raise the stage," with a shake of her brown head. Mrs. Lola Small-Jackson-Ford admitted a predilection for farce comedy line, though she has as yet closed with no one. "I have even been interviewed by a manager as to whether or not I object to tights," and she made a little grimace, "I certainly do not if they were requisite to a role."

So great has been the anxiety of several governments to learn the intention of the United States with regard to the Philippines that they instructed their represen tatives in Washington to make inquiries as to our policy. These diplomats, besides seeking the information through ordinary channels, have furnished their gov ernments with such unofficial statements and gossip of an authentic character as they have been able to obtain. The inquiries, when addressed to the State Department, have all been of a character to disarm suspicion of any in-tention on the part of the makers to find fault with any policy that may be adopted by the United States, it being stated that if not an improper question the government of Japan, for instance, would like to know what the United States proposes to do with the Philip-

RETAILERS TO BREW.

Them Pay the War Tax on Beer. New York, July 28.-Brewers in this establishing prices are soon to have oposition. This opposition will come from the retailers, who, through the Central Liquor Dealers' Association, have decided to start a brewery of their own, When the plant is in operation, they say, the retailers, who will be the only stockholders, will be able to snap their fingers at the brewers, as well as give beer drink-ers an opportunity to test a new brew. Already a committee, composed of Ber-nard T. Kearns, chairman; Peter McGina, Francis J. O'Connell, president of the State Liquor Dealers' Association; Mor-ris Tekulsky and Louis Tekulsky, has been appointed to formulate plans for the enterprise, with the idea that the capital stock is to be $500,000. With the war tax added, the tax on beer is now $2 a barrel, subject to a disount of 15 per cent. The brewers held that the retailers The brewers held that the retailers must pay the tax. The retailers protested vigorously, but they had to have beer, and to get it they had to pay the tax. Their objection to doing this was the cause, largely, of a meeting held in the Terrace Garden, at which the scheme to start an opposition brewery took shape.

Any reputable liquor dealer in the city will be allowed to purchase stock. It will be an easy matter, it is said, to get 100 e an easy matter, it is said, to get 100 en to subscribe $1,000 each, which, will be capital enough to start the enterprise. After that the dealers think it will be

The last detachment, under Miss Martha Draper, went to Charleston with his especial sanction, and it was understood the offices of Mrs. Whitelaw Reid had won this recognition for the nurses. The American National Red Cross Relief Committee has accepted the situation, and, while registration goes on daily, no attempt is being made to send
